Sixteenth Annual Golf Outing Villa Olivia Country Club

Tuesday, July 15, 2003

Villa Olivia Country Club will be the site of this year's NEI Golf Outing. Located on Lake Street just west of Route 59 in Bartlett, Villa Olivia will be in great condition and ready for play. There will be a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m. with registration beginning at 11:30 a.m. Come early to sign up and meet our sponsors for the event. Dinner will be served at 6:00 p.m. followed by a short Awards Program.

The chapter will be awarding $2,000 in scholarships to three area architectural students as part of this event. Fifteen dollars of each participant fee goes directly to support the Scholarship Fund. The scholarship winners will be on hand to receive their awards. You are encouraged to meet and get to know the recipients.

Plan to enjoy this event with your clients, consultants, and friends. You can participate in the event by purchasing one of the following: $125 for a Full Day Event Pass, $85 for a Golf and Lunch Only Pass, or $50 for Dinner Only Pass. We have planned a fun-filled and enjoyable day for all who participate. We will be playing a best-ball scramble and with the shotgun start we will all start and end together. Remember this event not only benefits the Chapter, but also is the primary contributor to the chapter scholarship program.

If you don't golf, then participate by being a hole sponsor or a contributor to the event. Event sponsors not only enjoy the fun of the Golf Outing, they will also be recognized for the event throughout the day and in the Architalk newsletter.

Please see the registration form inside the Architalk for more information.

We hope to see you there!

2003 Celebrate Architecture Awards

Preparations are underway for 2003 Celebrate Architecture Awards, our Chapter's biennial design awards program. AIA Northeast Illinois members will receive their Call for Entries notice by mail. Project entries should be submitted based on one of the following categories:

- Distinguished Building
- Preservation / Adaptive Reuse
- Residential
- Interiors
- Unbuilt Projects/Divine Details/Architectural Ideas

Entry packets, available upon request, will outline information and photography requirements. We hope every firm and architect member in the Chapter will take time out of their busy schedule to celebrate architecture by submitting their best work for this awards program.

The 2003 Celebration Night will again take place at The Lodge at McDonald's Corporate Campus in Oak Brook on November 13th.

Summer is the time to have some fun. We loosen up our ties, let our hair down, and get out to play. A great example of this was last month's architectural cruise on the Chicago River. There is no better vantage point to see all of these fabulous structures. While it was relaxing, it was also very informative. Our guide took us on a historical journey from the early Irish settlers of Goose Island, the river's warehouse period and great fire, through the International style buildings of the modern era, the loft conversions, the post-modern period of the 80's and 90's, and finally, the beautification of the new river walks and landscaped public parks. It truly was a memorable event that we can thank Betsy Gensburg for planning.

This month brings us another outdoor event. The golf outing is a great way to network with your fellow professionals and have a great time doing it. The first phrase of our mission statement is, "To celebrate and promote the profession of architecture." What could be a better way to accomplish these goals than with a golf club in your hands? A portion of your entry fee is directed to our scholarship fund. College students studying architecture who live within our chapter boundaries are eligible for this financial support. Architects by nature have essential talents in judging distance and angles to succeed in their professions. Don't be afraid to use these talents and take home a trophy at this annual chapter event.

In between all of this fun we do still have some work to do. The board members have been working on several important issues. Our AIA-NEI membership business cards are printed and must be distributed to firms that are willing to participate in this program. Please consider this opportunity if you are called to take part. We are also putting together a sponsorship package that will allow our vendors to buy in bulk at reduced costs. This will ease the work each month that is involved in putting on programs. Finally, this fall we will be hosting our biennial honor awards. You should be receiving a call for entries soon, so get your best design work photographed and ready for submission.

Again, we do appreciate your support. Feel free to contact us with any comments or suggestions that you may have.

AIA Illinois 2003 Honor Awards Program

AIA Illinois is pleased to announce that the 2003 Honor Awards Call For Entries are now available on their website or by calling the State or NEI office. The awards will be presented at the AIA Illinois Annual Meeting, November 7-8, 2003 in Champaign/Urbana, Illinois.

AIA Illinois annually seeks to recognize members, as well as non-member individuals and/or organizations, who have made notable contributions to the advancement of the profession of architecture in the state of Illinois.

There are five award categories:

- Distinguished Achievement Award
- Distinguished Firm Award
- Excellence in Education Award
- The President's Award
- Citation of Honor

A new category, Distinguished Architectural Student, has been added for 2003. This Award goes to an architectural student attending an architectural program at a college or university in the state of Illinois.

Nominations are due postmarked Monday, September 1, 2003. For questions contact AIA Illinois Executive Vice President Mike Waldinger at aiainninois@ameritech.net or 217.522.2309.

NEI August Tour to Feature IIT Building by Rem Koolhaas

Preparations are underway for the annual NEI building tour on August 13th at the McCormack Tribune Center located on the Illinois Institute of Technology campus in Chicago. Designed by Dutch architect, Rem Koolhaas, it is the latest architectural addition to the IIT campus in 25 years. Tour preparations are being made with the assistance of Gilbane Building Company, the Construction Manager of the facility. Please mark your calendar for August 13th and watch next month's newsletter for more details.

2003 After Hours Building Code Review Classes – Elevator Code

The City of Chicago's elevator code will be reviewed by the Chicago Department of Construction and Permits on Thursday, July 17, 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. The emphasis will be on the changes in this code over the last several years. Both the changes and the reasons for them will be explored by Desmond Drotos, Chair of the Elevator Code Committee. The class will take place at the University of Illinois-Chicago, Chicago Circle Building, 750 S. Halsted, Room 605 (west corner of Polk and Halsted). Low cost parking is available at the east side of the corner of Polk and Halsted.

For addition information or to register for this free class, call Al Corbett at 312-744-2622.

Do You Know Your BEA's?

Quick question: Who can accurately define NCARB's Broadly Experienced Architect (BEA) program? If you're stymied for an answer, unfortunately you're not alone. In spite of the fact that the BEA program has been in existence since 1997, too many people do not fully understand this unique pathway to NCAARB certification.

Quite frankly, the BEA program is not for everyone. It is, in fact, geared to architects seeking the NCARB Certificate who do not hold degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB).

Impossible task, you may be thinking. Isn't an accredited degree part of certification requirements? On one hand, that's precisely the case: earning an NAAB-accredited degree comprises a portion of certification requirements. On the other hand, the Council recognizes that architects may follow different routes to licensure and, ultimately, certification.

In order to be eligible for BEA consideration, an architect must meet two initial requirements:

- Registration (or licensure) with one of NCARB's 55 Member Boards for at least 10 years and
- In responsible charge as a registered architect of a comprehensive practice of architecture for a minimum of 10 years.

By meeting these basic criteria, an architect is then asked to obtain an evaluation of his or her post-secondary education, if any, from the Education Evaluation Services for Architects (EESA), completed by NAAB. This evaluation identifies any NCARB education requirements that have not yet been met; in turn, the architect is asked to compile an NCARB Education Dossier demonstrating how learning in the deficient areas has been gained. The dossier is reviewed in detail by three members of the BEA Committee. If the dossier demonstrates the required learning, the architect is invited to a personal interview with the BEA Interview Committee in order to verify the contents of the dossier.

The committee holistically assesses the dossier as well as the interview. A favorable consensus will mean that the architect has met the NCARB Education Standard and is eligible for certification and its many associated benefits including inter-jurisdictional reciprocity.

The BEA process is not for the fainthearted. It is a comprehensive evaluation of an architect's education and professional experience. It is often time-consuming, and it is not inexpensive. BEA candidates must each pay a $1,500 fee.

What the BEA process does offer is an alternate pathway to NCARB certification. Its potential audience is registered architects who have gathered the bulk of their learning in a practice setting.

Additional information about the BEA program can be found in the most current edition of the NCARB Education Standard, a publication updated on an annual basis. The NCARB web site (www.ncarb.or) also offers information on BEA criteria. Interested architects wishing to take part in the BEA process should contact Michiel M. Bourdreuz, AIA, Director, Professional Services (202-783-6500 or mbourdreuz@ncarb.org).

CHAPTER CORNER

CHAPTER NEWS

The May 10 AIA national convention presentation by Daniel Libeskind is available via streaming video free as an AIA eClassroom session. The "Design of the Century" that he gave at the AIA national convention in San Diego followed by a panel discussion of Libeskind's design for the World Trade Center site featuring Robert Ivy, FAIA; Frances Halsband, FAIA; Stanton Eckstut, FAIA; and Paul Goldberger, Hon. AIA can be found on the AIA distance-learning site (<http://eclassroom.aia.org>). AIA members must sign in using their AIA member number in order to access the hour-and-a-half course (2 AIA/CES learning units) free of cost. The cost for non AIA members is $49.95.

The 2004 AIA National Convention will be held June 10-12 in Chicago. If you have any interest in volunteering at the convention, please call the chapter office or Dortha Martin (630-573-5149). We are putting together a list of volunteers and will contact you when we find out where our chapter's help is needed.

Schiffer Books has contracted with Ashley Rooney to write a "coffee table" book on Barn Conversions. If you have a project you'd like considered, Ashley is looking for interior and exterior 35mm color slide transparencies; captions, a signed release, name, address, and a 50-word description of the firm by September 15. Credit would be given and the firm listed in the resource guide. For additional information contact Ashley Rooney at 20 Hancock Street, Lexington, MA 02420 or email to earooney@rcn.com.

All chapter members will soon receive the 2003 ArchiPages. If you have not received your copy by 15th of the month, please contact the chapter office.

MEMBER NEWS

The chapter extends its sympathy to Mike Elliott, AIA, whose mother passed away Saturday, June 14, 2003.

Donna Singer, wife of Eric Singer, NEI Affiliate Member, was involved in a very serious accident on May 18 during a Triathlon in Memphis, Tennessee. On June 19 she was transferred back to a Chicago area medical center where she was admitted to the Intensive Care Unit. A website with updates on Donna's condition as well as information where to send cards and letters has been set up at www.caringbridge.org/il/donnasinger. Please send your thoughts through the guestbook sign-in, if you are so inclined. Eric and his family can use all the support and encouragement that can be sent.

Bill Kribs, NEI Affiliate Member, is co-owner of DuPage Copy and Blueprint which is one of more than 30 companies to donate their time, money and services in recreating a reproduction of the Wright Brothers' famous 1903 flyer. The plane is scheduled to fly over the front lawn of Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry in September 2003 and will eventually be donated to the museum. Bill and his wife heard about this project while producing blueprints for the model.
