

Norah Andrade
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Norah Andrade is an undergraduate student at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, where she will be a junior this fall pursuing a Bachelor of Science in Architectural Studies with a minor in Urban Studies and Planning. She is actively involved in several campus organizations, including the Gargoyle Architecture Honor Society, the FAA James Scholars Program, Women in Architecture, and Habitat for Humanity.

Following graduation, Norah plans to pursue a professional graduate degree in architecture and obtain architectural licensure. Her interests center on creating human-centered, environmentally sustainable design solutions that enhance the built environment and the communities they serve. She is also passionate about advancing the representation and leadership of women in the architecture profession and contributing to a more inclusive future for the field.